

2020 North American Agricultural Safety Summit

Media Kit

GREAT REASONS TO ATTEND

Led by its industry members, and informed by its academic and research members, the Agricultural Safety and Health Council of America (ASHCA) is uniquely positioned to match evidence-based safety interventions with production practices and emerging safety issues.

In this fast-paced, 1.5 day meeting, learn from other agricultural producers about proven safety strategies that result in savings and improved employee morale.

Join with others to meet the challenge of feeding 9 billion people (predicted by 2030) safely, securely, and sustainably.

Gain access to evidence based best practices and programs that recruit and retain the best agricultural workers.

Understand the global view – food production, worker safety, consumer expectations, corporate social responsibility and international trade implications.

Guide future strategies to enhance education and training of agricultural risk managers, farm safety professionals and frontline supervisors.

Identify interventions that protect vulnerable populations including immigrant workers, young workers and non-working children.

Gain practical ideas for mobilizing knowledge getting the right information to the right people to do the right thing at the right time.

Network with North America's agricultural safety and agribusiness leaders – all in one place.